Giving Students a Voice with Voice Typing

➔ Do you have students that struggle putting ideas on paper but you ask them the same question and tell you the whole story?
➔ Do they struggle with the physical act of writing or typing?

Voice Typing to the rescue!

1. Open Google Docs. Click Tools in the top toolbar.

2. Choose Voice typing.

3. Allow Google Docs to access your microphone.

Click on the red microphone to record.

4. Text will automatically appear on the page.

Pro-tips:
● Click on the microphone again to stop recording
● Voice type speaker notes in Google Slides
● Use Voice typing on mobile devices

This 1-pager was made with Google Docs by Heather Breedlove